

REDAS Article on Environmental Sustainability

11 November 2019

Dear REDAS Member-Developers,

As an association, it is always heartening to see fellow members sharing about their thoughts and views or their achievements and new initiatives in the marketplace and media. Such information help to develop a positive connection with the industry and the public, in particular aspects of developers taking progressive steps to improve the environment and integrating sustainability criteria into their developments.

In a similar vein, we are working on an article contribution piece on environmental sustainability. The aim of the article is to shed some light on the importance of sustainability efforts for our built environment and to showcase examples of such effort. This is crucial as Singapore tackles climate change and make our nation a low-carbon city-state.

In this regard, we would like to seek your help to share the following information:

- 1) Examples of recent developments (commercial/residential/industrial/hotels) that have successfully implemented sustainability initiatives;
- 2) Examples of how a development can be built sustainably and responsibly with minimal environmental impact. (E.g. through the use of specific sustainable materials);
- 3) Any relevant info/statistics/examples that highlights the issue of sustainability being practised or any sustainability measures that failed to generate positive impact;

The article will be the first of the many which we will be pushing out to share with the media as well as feature them in e-bulletin. Your contribution will certainly render the article an engaging and insightful read for many.

We target to publish the article in the week of 18 November 2019. Hence, we would be grateful to receive your favorable reply on or before Friday, 15 November 2019, A Reply Form is attached for your use, please. Thank you.

Best Regards,
